A VERY CONCISE LIST OF TIPS

- ◆ Study words from the lists below. It is especially important to know the two and three-letter words (and their hooks) by heart. A hook is a letter that can be placed at the beginning or end of a word in order to create another valid word. For example: B + AA = BAA or MAX + I = MAXI.
- ◆ Familiarize yourself with the top “bingo stems”. These are the most probable sets of letters you can have in your rack. They yield the highest number of bingos (also called bonus words) when combined with another letter or blank.
- ◆ Try to keep a good balance of tiles on your rack, striving towards high-probability (bingo prone) letter sets. Remember that what you leave on your rack is just as important as what you choose to play.
- ◆ Don't waste your blanks; use them for high-scoring plays. Most of the time, blanks should be used to play bingos.
- ◆ Try to use S's to hook to other words so that you can gain scores in the 30+ range, especially bingos; but don't let S's bog you down. Sometimes strategy calls for "sacrificing" an S. Too many S's in your rack is bad too; they can really tie things up.
- ◆ Keep your eye open for open bonus squares (hot spots) on the board. Try to avoid placing vowels next to these squares. This prevents your opponent from capitalizing on these key spots.
- ◆ If playing for defense, try to gauge whether a blocking play would hinder you just as much as it would hinder your opponent. This calls for learning what your style of play is. Some players prefer a wide open board, others like a closed one.
- ◆ Learn to know which tiles remain in the bag so that you can adjust what you keep in your rack. Expert players track tiles during the game. This is particularly important in the endgame. When you know which letters your opponent is likely to have in his or her rack, it can make all the difference in how you play the final moves of a game.
- ◆ Try not to get discouraged. Keep your chin up and look for your best play!
